

I am a subscriber of satellite radio. I pay for the services they provide and find them entertaining and useful. The FCC should not consider actions that would deprive me of these types of services. Conventional Broadcast Radio cannot provide me the information I get from Satellite radio and should not engage in any activity that protects them from healthy competition in a free market.